

Jeremy Tardy is an actor, director and musician from Milwaukee, WI. Jeremy got his start working with First Stage Children's Theater where he performed in several plays and musicals, making a name for himself in the Milwaukee area. Jeremy went on to study in Oxford, England at the British American Dramatic Academy. He received his BFA in Drama at The Juilliard School. Now residing in Los Angeles, he enjoys a career with TV/Film credits including: Paramount Network's "68 Whiskey", HBO's "Ballers", Netflix's "Dear White People", "The Mindy Project", "10 Days in the Valley", "Castle"; KALAHARI, VOODOO MACBETH, WAR DOGS, and more. Jeremy serves on the board of directors of CLIMB USA, a non-profit organization whose mission is to foster economic empowerment in underserved communities. Jeremy believes that financial literacy and education is a key component for empowerment and liberation in America. As an artist and activist, Jeremy has worked with the NAACP and ACLU and he strives to make a positive impact in the lives of others.